Housing

Is housing guaranteed?

Available, but not guaranteed. Prospective students must adhere to all university housing deadlines regarding housing applications and fees.

For on-campus residence hall options and costs, review the following website:

<http://reslife.tamu.edu>. Students on exchange for fall only will have to enter a contract for the academic year (fall and spring). They will be released from the spring obligation if their exchange term is only for the fall semester.

Exchange students can elect to live off-campus, but are responsible for locating off-campus housing themselves. Students should only enter a lease term that corresponds to their exchange term.

If housing is not guaranteed, what resources are available to incoming exchange students?

Students may choose to live off-campus, and may seek to explore numerous off-campus options through the Office of the Dean of Student Life, <https://studentlife.tamu.edu/ocss/>.

Types of housing (co-ops, dorms, private...)

Dorm-style available on both the north and south side of campus; apartment style available in White Creek Apartments on the west side.

Are meals included in housing?

Students have the option to select and purchase a variety of meal plans:

<https://dineoncampus.com/tamu>.

Are there typically single and double rooms?

Most dormitories are double rooms. A select number of single rooms are available depending on the type of residence hall selected.

How many people share a bathroom and a kitchen?

Some on-campus dormitories include shared kitchen facilities. Some dormitories have a shared bathroom for two (2) students and others for four (4) students, depending of the type of residence hall selected. Other residence halls have community baths shared by a floor.

What's the distance from housing to the university?

On-campus housing accommodations are located on both the Main and West Campuses. The Texas A&M campus is large. There is free shuttle bus service between the two major campuses, i.e., Main Campus and West Campus and to other parts of the city.

What means of transport do the students use to get from housing to the university (e.g. walk, bus, bike, train)?

Most students walk, ride a bike, or use the university shuttle bus system. The university bus system is free and accessible to students for transport both on and off campus.
