Teacher just sat and read exercises, no explanations were given

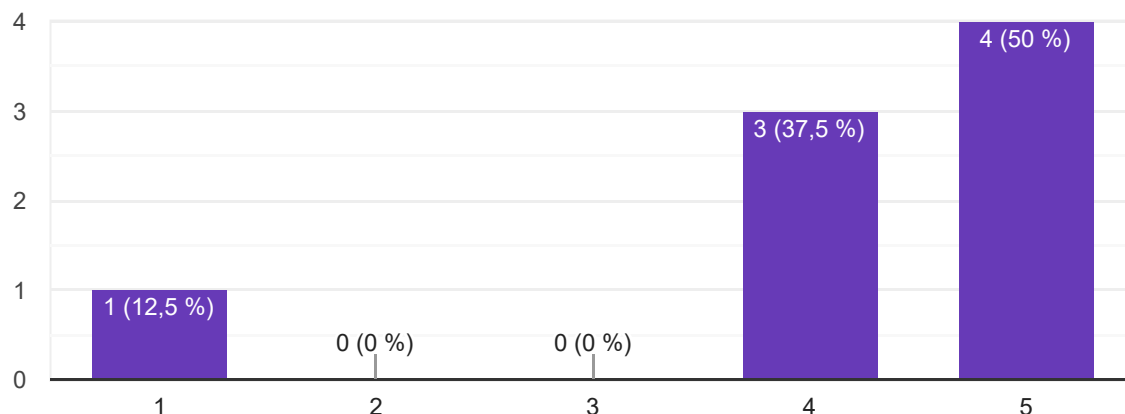

It would be great to have an only book or self-contained guide made for the course instead of a several individual documents.

I would appreciate more activities with personalized feedback although I know there were many. Perhaps online tests per class or per week associated with the concepts discussed in class would help students feel more confident about their learning

I found the course quite helpful even though I believed my English was decent, now I see my writing from different perspectives, perhaps too many. Hopefully with time I will be able to improve and apply all of the concepts learnt automatically.
