

---

“Critical Thinking and Creativity applied to Intelligence”

Workshop

Madrid, May 31st to June 1st 2012

Faculty of Law
and Social Sciences.
Rey Juan Carlos University

Critical Thinking and Creativity applied to Intelligence

Description

This two day workshop is framed under Master in Intelligence Analyst (Third Edition), organized by the Chair Intelligence Services and Democratic Systems (Rey Juan Carlos University, Madrid, Spain) and Institute of Intelligence for Security and Defense “Juan Velázquez de Velasco” (Carlos III University of Madrid, Spain).

This workshop is an adaptation of the Secrets or Mysteries? Course facilitated by Mr. Chris Jagger and Dr. Julian Richards using the Experiential Scenario Based Training (ESBT) training method.

Length (2 days)

From May 31st to June 1st, 2012

Language

English is the workshop official language

Program

-Day one:

- Theory of critical thinking
- Theory of creative
- Thinking Tools and Techniques
- Simulation Exercise

-Day two: Experiential Scenario Based Exercise – putting theory and technique to practice

Location

Faculty of Law and Social Sciences. Rey Juan Carlos University, Madrid (Spain).

Chris Jagger. Creator and founder of 2createffects, Chris Jagger has held several senior positions advising governments, international organizations and industry leaders. The majority of these positions have been concerned with intelligence and security in both civilian and military "special operations" environments. Much of his time has been spent working outside of the UK for the British Government, NATO and the United Nations in a wide range of politically challenging and culturally sensitive environments. These positions include: Director of Vetting, Organized Crime and Border Security Advisor, Intelligence and Security Advisor (NATO), Head of Military Liaison (United Nations), and Director of the NATO Maritime Security Forum and COMPASS, a NATO endorsed Maritime Security Think Tank. Chris holds an MA in Intelligence and Security Studies and has published in numerous papers in his specialist field.

See also: <http://www.linkedin.com/pub/chris-jagger/30/2a1/2a1>

Julian Richards. Dr. Julian Richards worked for 17 years for the British Government in Security and Intelligence roles, including intelligence analysis policy, planning and training. He has a PhD in Political Science (Cambridge University), and was the founder of the University of Buckingham's Centre for Security and Intelligence Studies (BUCSIS), where he teaches Masters Degree courses in Global Security and Intelligence, and tutors a number of PhD candidates. Dr. Richards is the author of two books respectively on intelligence analysis and national security strategy.