About us

The Universidad de Mendoza is a higher education institution of private management that is headed by a High Council made up by members of the faculty staff. From 1960, it's strongly committed to the academic quality achievement, scientific research and community service. Thus, within this academic environment, the UM opens its gates and generates a communication link for those who are interested in learning and those who wish to transfer knowledge.

The Universidad de Mendoza (UM) – University of Mendoza -was founded on December 1959 by the provincial governing body's approval of its first bylaws.

The University definite legal constitution was achieved in August 1962, and was accredited as a private university and registered as a non-profit organization.

This higher education institution is located in the heart of Mendoza city and it is considered the oldest and largest private university in the Cuyo Region.

Among its graduates, UM boasts governors, federal and provincial ministers, judges, legislators, magistrates and outstanding professionals spread out across the country and abroad.

Likewise, the UM owns a campus in San Rafael that is working since 1998 with a strong academic presence in the southern of the province.

Both, the main university campus of UM as well as San Rafael campus are composed of five Schools: Law and Social Sciences; Architecture, Urban Planning & Design; Health Sciences; Engineering, and Economic Science. More than 8,000 students are attending their classrooms. More than 900 professors are part of its faculty staff.

From its inception, the UM has taken on the enormous task about the growth, development and dissemination of scientific and cultural knowledge, mostly emphasizing on the comprehensive education of students, not only taking into account the strictly professional courses, but also including the human aspects of the teaching, like literary or environmental workshops or sporting activities among others. Moreover, the UM is an institution committed itself with the strict application of admission procedures, academic rules, mandatory assistance and students monitoring.

Sports Campus

The university has opened their own sport facility with a gym at the “Ejército de Los Andes” (Andean Army) Campus, with a free and nonrestrictive access for the whole university community. The sport activities practiced are: volleyball (ladies/men), soccer (men), seven-a-side soccer (ladies), basketball, indoor-soccer, athletics, paddle, tennis and swimming.

Polyphonic Choir

Musical expression is part of the education, thus the Universidad de Mendoza boasts its own Polyphonic choir. The goal of this choir is to introduce the student to singing as an enrichment of their extracurricular education, putting emphasis in the student's profile education, given that these students have no previous musical knowledge.

Publishing Division of Universidad de Mendoza (EDIUM)

The UM owns since 1977 its own publishing division. EDIUM is in charge of the edition and publishing of two magazines: “Revista de la Universidad de Mendoza” and “Idearium” magazine belonging to the school of Law and Social Sciences. By means of the same house of publishing, more than 150 books have also been printed.

Internationalization Programs

Internationalization is for the Universidad de Mendoza a curricular and institutional process of rapprochement whose final goal is to encourage on the part of participants (students, teachers, researchers, people in general) a deep reflection about how every one's tasks finally impacts on the social bases we belong to.

Internationalization Agreements

The UM boasts more than 300 effective agreements with universities from USA, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, France, Russia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Guatemala, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru and Paraguay among others.

These programs are aimed at mobility and exchange of students, teachers, researchers and staff members.

Foreign Languages Program for students, teachers and researchers.

French language courses

A1, A2, B1, B2; C1 y C2 and international exams (DELFI and DALF). For these courses the UM has signed an agreement with the "Alianza Francesa" of Mendoza.

Italian language courses

A1, A2, B1, B2, C1 and C2. The UM has signed a specific agreement with the University of Perugia-Italy, authorizing the UM to be official certifier of Italian language.

English language courses

the UM has signed an agreement with the "Instituto Cultural de Mendoza"- the only one institution accredited by the Cambridge University to take the English International Exams of First and CAE.

Portuguese

Spanish Language Courses for foreign people

The University offers courses of Spanish Language assistance for foreign students that are achieving mobility programs at the same university. These free courses are aimed at degree and postgraduate course students and researchers needing language assistance for their studies and researches. The levels offered are basic, intermediate and advanced.

Publishing Division of Universidad de Mendoza (EDIUM)

The UM owns since 1977 its own publishing division that is responsible for selecting, managing and distributing the whole material that is published at this academic institution.

EDIUM is in charge of the edition and publishing of two magazines: "Revista de la Universidad de Mendoza" – with 23 issues to this date – and "Idearium" magazine belonging to the school of Law and Social Sciences. By means of the same house of publishing, more than 150 books have also been printed, some of which had wide repercussion and acceptance among readers.

As part of this university extension and diffusion task, the university took into account, from the beginning, to publish those works that translate the researches fulfilled at the UM, in order to share them with students, the scientific and university community and the society in general.

Universities Networks

The Universidad de Mendoza is member of the “Unión de Universidades de América Latina y el Caribe” - UDUAL – (Association of Caribbean and Latin American Universities) and also participates in the “Programa Anual of Movilidad Estudiantil” –PAME - offering places for students exchanges in all the degree courses of study, in a partial or complete mode. Likewise, the UM is member of the “Asociación Universitaria Iberoamericana de Postgrado” - AUIP - and the “Fundación de Cátedras Iberoamericanas” –UIB – .
