The Master in Accounting at Universidad Carlos III de Madrid is a one-year full-time official programme designed to provide high quality graduate education in an area that offers excellent professional opportunities at the national and international level. The master is taught entirely in English and it is aimed at recent graduates and junior professionals who wish to acquire a realistic, practical and professional perspective of Accounting and develop their professional or academic career in this area.

The Master in Accounting is taught at the University's Graduate School, located in Madrid city center's Puerta de Toledo campus. The relative small, yet extremely diverse, group of students in the master, offers an environment that stimulates rigorous, multicultural learning and encourages independent thinking and critical analysis of accounting issues in a complex business environment.

As a unique feature of this Master, students can tailor the program's curriculum according to their career plans by choosing their preferred elective courses. The university also provides students with the option of extra-curricular Spanish training so that all students can learn or improve their working knowledge of one of the leading languages in the world.

Carlos III University of Madrid announces a call for financial aid/grants to study University Master's degrees, earmarked for recruitment of students with proven academic excellence and a research profile. Studying in a Master's program requires committed and active participants who are passionate about their academic and professional performance.
