STRUCTURE OF THE EURAXESS NETWORK

Introduction

"EURAXESS - Researchers in Motion" is one of the key initiatives to enhance researcher careers and mobility and, as such, is the operational instrument of related European policies. Given its overall aim of contributing to the further development and consolidation of the European Research Area (ERA) and, in particular, of making Europe more attractive to researchers, EURAXESS is backed at national political and institutional level. The EC supports the activities of the EURAXESS Service Network for its personalised dimension and the direct contact with researchers, thus fulfilling the goal of making Europe attractive for researchers from all over the world.

Over the years EURAXESS – Researchers in Motion contributed as operational arm of policy implementation at national but also European level to areas supporting researchers to stay in or come to Europe and retain and attract talent in Europe enhancing the career of researchers in Europe by providing information on job opportunities, mobility services, personalised assistance, and rights and obligations for researchers and research organisations.

The EURAXESS initiative interlinks four activities, each of them individually very high on the political agenda. Through the overarching brand the initiative became an important player by addressing not only researchers, but also funders and employers - both private and public – as well as HR departments, national, local and even international administrations as well as the national and European policy level.
